Kindergarten News Letter Week #13

We learned the "Gg" sound in K-Wac and will be not have a new letter next week. We talked about Guitars and the Golden Goose. We also read the story of the Three Billy Goats Gruff.

In Math, we worked with measurement and capacity. We also are working on saying and writing to 50. Keep practicing writing your numbers at home. We still have quite a few reversals. Practice makes perfect!

In religion, we will be learning about families and how Jesus' family was the most special of all. We will also be starting all of our Advent activities. This is just an exciting time for us all. The students really learn a lot about our faith during Christmas. This week we talked about our senses and they all had very good ideas to share.

Please join us in walking during the parade of lights. What better way to show the true meaning of Christmas and how proud we are of our school. Details are in the parent packet.
(Date: November 23rd)

Please keep practicing skills with your child at home and re-enforce the importance of knowing their words, letters, sounds and numbers. We will start mid-term testing and reviewing, we will also be testing each student with our Dibbles reading program.

Thank you for the work you do with your children. Learning is a partnership between teacher and parent. I can tell that their skills are being worked on at home also.

May you all be blessed and truly be thankful for all the "treasures" we have in our lives. Remember our children are our future and let's show them how thankful we are for everything that they do.
